“ Dear Sweet Billy will be sorely missed. Many stories I can tell but not enough space. What I know is this, when he was needed for anything he was always there to be of help to Bill and I. After dear Sylvia passed, it was a very hard time and adjustment. All I can see right now is the adjustment for family and friends. Never are we, even as elder children ready to be an orphan. I know I have had a hard time with that feeling. Never are we ready to lose a sibling. My heart is going out to all of you in this very loving family. Know you are not alone ask others to hold you and listen, share until there are no more tears and then there will be another. Bless Billy to at peace with all the loved ones that went before him. Never know who he will see soon. Being ready to meet your maker is why we are alive.
