“ I guess in all the sadness of the moment I didn't even know this guest book existed. My dad was the greatest human I've ever known. I just really never knew what a lucky girl I was growing up. I have no doubt at all my dad is walking that street of gold right now. Dad knew who Jesus is and knew He was not just his King but his Savior. I miss you terrible dad but I will see you again.

“ Carroll was a kind man in a world where kindness has become a rare commodity. I grew to know him during the years he worked at the school. He was always wonderfully supportive of the faculty and students and had a ready smile for everyone. The world is less with his passing.

“ May our dearest cousin finally rest in peace and free from pain. I will miss his stories and his great family research. He was a great man of courage and integrity who taught me so much about standing up when it really mattered. His passing is a true loss to our Fancher family.

With love and admiration, Lynnmarie

“ We are so sorry to hear of Carroll Gene's passing. He was a wonderful person and he instilled the most wonderful qualities to his children. He will be missed tremendously but may his legacy live on through each of his children so that they too can show the generations below them Christ' everlasting love, just as Carroll Gene did. We are so sorry that we cannot be at the funeral. We leave for Texas today for our grandmothers funeral. Please know that our hearts are with you all..

“ Barbara and Family, Even tho we are not with you all in person Today, We are with you in thoughts and prayer.

Memories of all the good times that we have shared will live on through-out our life.

Not only was Carroll a good husband, father, uncle, grandpa, he was a good brother to us.

You are all very special to us, especially for the love and happiness that you gave to Carroll during his life. He was a very blessed man.

“ His family speaks volumes about the type of man he was. Hardworking, loving, humorous, an friend to everyone he came in contact with. The world seems a little darker without his light in it. It sure does strengthen your faith to know people like him are waiting on the other side.

“ I am deeply saddened to hear of his passing. I am sorry for your families loss. No words can express what you must feel. Please take heart and know he is in a better place now. I will miss his smile and running into him from time to time. The boys adored him and will miss seeing him and joking with him. Take care and God bless.

“ Daddy's love was like a willow tree whose branches touched the ground. They formed a bond around the trunk to keep us safe and sound.

Each branch came from a lesson taught alone they were so small, but after all his lessons came, He was the greatest teacher of all.

When life's storms tried to blow us down they never could succeed, cause daddy was so big and strong we never felt the breeze.

Now its time for us to grieve for daddy on this day, but his love will last our wole life through and comfort us this day.
