“ Rhonda, I sure hope you remember me. I ran around with Bettie Joe Huey. My last name was Woolsey then. I'm so sorry to see this news about your Dad. Gilbert and I drove to Clifty several years ago looking for him. Stopped at the store over there, and had no luck. We have been wondering where he was. I loved him to pieces. He is who introduced me to Gilbert, and then we married. How are you sweet girl? I'd love to see you all grown up. Love and prayers to you and your family.

“ Dad, I always knew that the day would come that you would go home. Still, I wasn't prepared for it. You are with your mom and dad now as well as friends and family that went before you. You are now free from the pain and the tethers of this world. I can see you walking and running in your new body. Breathing in the fresh air. I can feel your presence with me. I know you are now an angel watching over us. I will miss you every day. My tears are happy tears for your freedom. I can still look back on your life and vividly see the memories we made. Time will never replace you or the love I have for you. Rest in peace, dad. I love you.
