“ I will always cherish the memories of camping on the river at your house. I loved the tricks Fred would play on us and the suspense leading up to his night time visits (cause I knew he would try to scare us) made each trip so much more fun than just camping would have been.

My heart goes out to you, we have all lost a good friend.

“ What is there to be said? Fred was one in a million and we loved him. Pat's first hay hauling was with Fred and Dad and Dad sent "the city boy" away cause he couldn't buck hay to suit them. Fred told Pat that everyone had to learn and not to take Dad's words too hard. By the way, every time PJ does something Pat doesn't approve of, Pat recites what you and Fred told him right after PJ was born, "Momma's baby, Daddy's maybe". We chuckle over that quite a bit.

With love and sympathy we think of you daily.
