“ These are the thoughts that keep me awake at night. I have had a lot of death in my liimefte, parents, siblings, friends, some young and some older. It is always different and reactions are always different. There are no words that are right for these times. There is nothing that makes it better. When one sister was left with a 2 year old and a 4 year old at the age of 24 to raise on her own I often wondered how she got out of bed in the morning. Somehow, she did. When another sister buried her only son before he was 30 I wondered how she got out of bed in the morning. Somehow, she did. These are the thoughts that keep me awake at night.

“ Shawn I am so sorry for your loss and the rest of Jamye's family. Words can't even begin to say how sorry I am and the fact that I'm unable to be there with the family. Jamye and I were friends for a very long time and have even cought myself thinking about calling just to talk. My thoughts and prayers are with you all. Please know that I am here for you if you ever need to talk. Love y'all

“ Sending love and prayers for Shawn, family and friends. I'm glad I could call Jamye my friend. We had so many good times and shared so many laughs, as well as tears. No matter how long it was between our conversations either in person or on the phone, we always picked up where we left off. She will be missed, but will not ever leave our hearts.

Deepest sympathy...
