“ To My Dear Friend, Denise,

I just heard about your son. I actually followed the story but did not realize this was your Jeremy. You know I TRULY feel your loss and the pain and emptiness only your heart can feel. In time I am sure God will give us both peace and his joy once more. I always felt we were very close friends and we could relate to each other and it seems even more so now. I have been praying for Jeremy's family since the day this happened. I am shocked to hear he was your precious son. If you just need to cry and need someone to hang on to, don't hesitate to call me. If you need your time alone, I, for one, know exactly how healing it can be. Just know, I love you and every tear you cry and every heartbeat your heart skips is a blessing from God. We would not hurt had we not loved them so very much. I am so sorry you have to go through this. I love you sweetie.

“ I was so sad to hear of Jeremy's passing. I have so many good memories with Jeremy when we were kids... I'm one of his friends from way back... I probably used to call your house way too late and we would talk for hours. We met in 7th grade and stayed friends throughout the years. The last time I talked to him was a couple of years ago. He came over to my house and had dinner with us. Jeremy always has a special place in my heart and he will be deeply missed. I'm so sorry for your loss.

“ Jeremy was my friend. We didn't see each other every day but he never let too much time go by without checking in & making sure i had the latest of his ever-changing phone numbers. We spent a lot of time talking & Jeremy appreciated that i cut him no slack or accepted no excuses from him. I knew he was capable of so much more. I believe i knew Jeremy better than most..i knew the real him: his heart & his hopes. I loved him..he was truly my friend & i will miss him.

He was always a big part of every project the Jaycees did or was involved in through the community or state. I know you will miss him and he will be missed by many others. Please accept my deepest sympathy. Please look to our Lord for comfort for he is the Prince Of Peace. In Love and Comfort,
