“ My Grandmother was a very special woman. She and my grandfather were a very big part of my childhood. Homemade barbie doll clothes, Specially decorated birthday cakes she made, handcrafted and engraved Christmas Tree Ornaments, my first books were golden books she bought for me-(I had Cinderella memorized)all our Holidays and special times were spent with them- too many memories to include, but every childhood memory had them in it and I will miss her alot! At least they are together again.

“ I was saddened to hear of Aunt Pearl's passing but rejoice in her reunion with Uncle Ed, my grandmother Dovie, her brothers and sisters and her parents. As the last of the Bayley children, a door has closed on a different time.

I will not forget the singing at my grandmother's home, the afternoons I spent with them on their farm when I was at the University (and the awful iced tea mixture they always served), and the stories they told.

Though I did not get a chance to see Aunt Pearl before her long illness, I will miss her.
