“ Tim and I were like twins growing up...so close in age and interests. We were friends back then. In adulthood we had some good times, shared experiences and sometimes even agreed to disagree. Since he left this world in July 2014, I have thought long and hard about how I too can make a living by living my life...being truer to who I am. I believe Tim (TR, Timothy, Chris, Friday) lived his life true to who he was no matter what he chose to call himself or what he chose to do with his days. A part of me died with Tim but I also felt a sense of renewal of life. Love and inspiration lives on...

“ Words cannot express my sorrow at learning this news. I cherish my memories of Tim. He was a free spirit. He was Peter Pan, he was my dear friend, he was my other son. Rest in peace Tim. God Bless.

“ His friends called him Friday; man Friday an efficient and devoured aide or employee: a right-hand man. We called him TR, Timmy, and Tim. He touched our lives in different ways. Free from the norms that chain us he lived for a living. We will stay inspired and dream big and live simple. Our guy Friday left us on a Friday.
