“ I can't believe Uncle Herman made it to 100 years old but he was the last one of his siblings. He will definitely be missed. I remember a funny story grandpa (Glenn) told me once about how the two of them were out in the woods once and cooked eggs in skunk oil for Herman and didn't tell him about it until after he ate it. Uncle Herman came to Washington to see Grandpa shortly before he died; when I called on the phone he surprised me by answering and sounded just like grandpa and looked so much like him too. I only got to see my great uncle Herman a few times in my life but he really made an impression that I won't forget.
